Next Generation ACCESS CONTROL & SECURITY

Frontier™ UNIVERSE

Consolidated Systems

Frontier™ Universe software and hardware meets the growing requirements for “Open Architecture” database management and “Open Protocol” electronic hardware. Compatible with multiple hardware platforms, including Mercury™ and HID™, each Frontier™ Universe system uses a single server, multiple servers, and/or redundant servers, allowing your system integrator to provide any level of system management with any level of physical security management, response, and verification.

Frontier's intelligent network architecture allows access and security management decisions to be made correctly and stored even if communication to the main computer system is lost.

Fully-distributed field hardware allows management of database, configuration, timing and control functions down to the field controller level. And Frontier's Windows-native application was designed for ease of use.

Integrated Access Control

Frontier™ Universe is fully scalable, allowing users to grow, expand, and manage devices from a single interface with context-sensitive prompts and triggers that scale to the specific end user. Define the number of cardholders in a system. Utilize industry-standard access readers, biometric readers and card technologies. Define multiple card formats with a complete badging system.

Integrated Alarm Management

Frontier™ Universe gives end users the flexibility to custom-configure site management and alarm response. Typical access control products lack an alarm management component, but Frontier™ Universe puts power back in the hands of end users with a regional system configuration that tailors multiple responses and data entry locations. The result? A protected database and fully-managed, automated controls that adapt to a facility's unique needs.

Benefits:

- Integrated alarm management with access points and facility keypad “Open” “Close” requirements
- Links with the most popular central station receivers
- Integration with most CCTV switchers via RS232
- Integration with fire panels for alarm annunciation
- Centralized alarm point monitoring and response
- Centralized alarm management and device control
- Consolidated reporting
- Lower cost of security management
- Full alarm video verification upon alarm

Integrated Video Management

Quick knowledge and verification is vital to site security and response. Frontier™ Universe's Digital Video Management allows users to link corporate networks or design their own local or wide-area network to ensure high-level response at a fraction of the cost of conventional DVR applications.

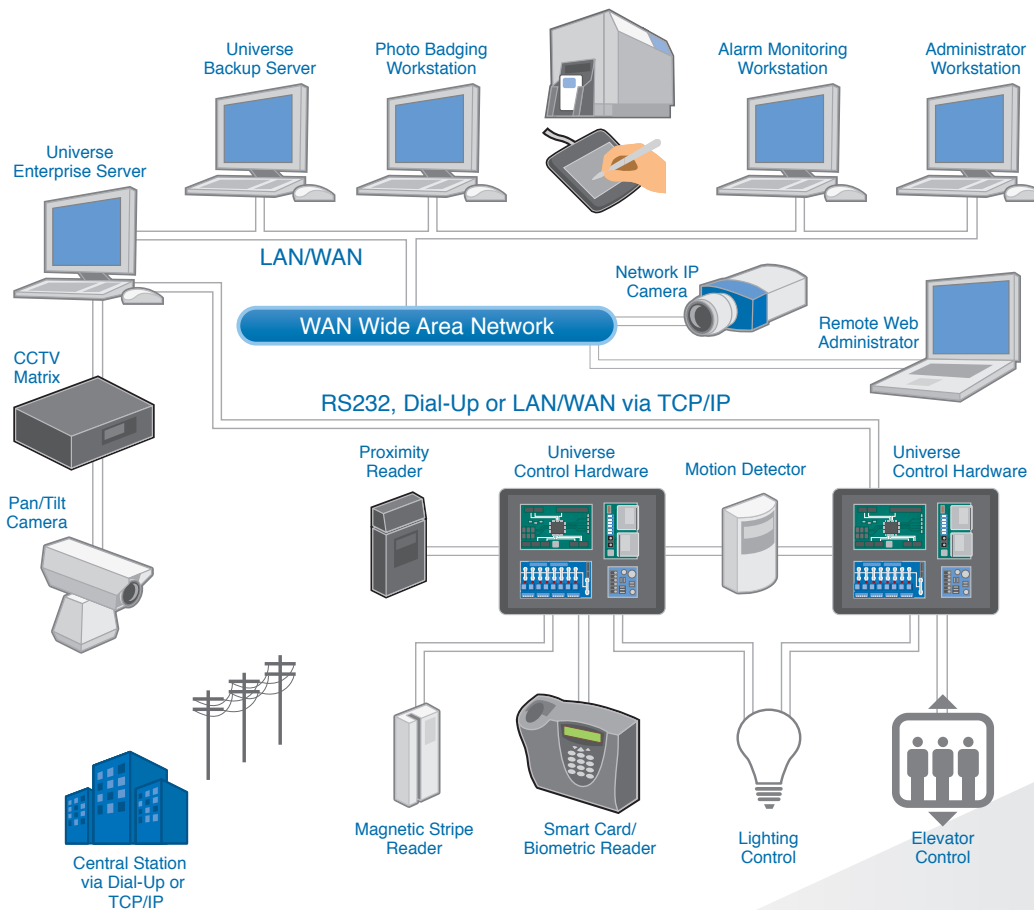

Automatically activate digitally-linked remote cameras at the moment of response. View digital databases with pre-alarm activity. Frontier™ Universe supports multiple matrix switchers and digital video systems, incorporating most existing devices into a single, fully-managed system.
